

Disaster Supply Kits

The list below can be adjusted for individuals and families. These kits are based on the FEMA publication "Are you Ready? An In-depth Guide to Citizen Preparedness," where you can find more complete information. The most critical items for survival are water, clothing, shelter for cold weather, any essential medications and provision for safe disposal of human waste. Rotation: Change clothing, food, water and baby kit at the same time twice each year. Replace bleach once each year since its ability to disinfect diminishes over time. Store batteries in unopened original containers and replace when expired.
