

“We Believe in Being Honest” - Selected Bibliography
Debra H. Sowell

This talk addressed four aspects of raising the bar for truthfulness in our lives:

1. The Need for Heightened Awareness: Remaining Honest in a World with Sinking Moral Standards
2. Being Honest in Today’s World Requires Effort.
3. Which Truth Do I Tell?
4. Take Positive Steps to Build a Culture of Honesty.

The following is a selected bibliography of sources consulted:

“A Cheating Crisis in American Schools.” ABC News. 8 April 2008.
http://abcnews.go.com/primetime/Story?id=132376&page=1, 2.

Atwood, Jill. “High School Steroid Use on the Rise.” 20 April 2008.
<http://www.abc4.com/news/local/story.aspx?content_id=94955777>

Callahan, David. The Cheating Culture. New York: Harcourt, 2004.

Child, Sheldon F. “As Good as Our Bond.” Ensign, May 1997, 29–30

“Ethics of American Youth: 2002.” Josephson Institute Center for Youth Ethics. 8 April 2008. <<http://charactercounts.org/programs/reportcard/2002/index.html>>.

Faust, James E. “Honesty—A Moral Compass.” Ensign, Nov. 1996, 41–44.

Haight, David B. “Ethics and Honesty.” Ensign, Nov. 1987, 13–15.

Hinckley, Gordon B. “We Believe in Being Honest.” Ensign, Oct. 1990, 2–5.

Madsen, Truman G. The Presidents of the Church. Audiocassettes. West Valley City, Utah: Bookcraft, 1999.

“Says President Hinckley,” Y News, Brigham Young University, September 28, 2007, Vol. 33, No. 5, p. 3.